

Short Curriculum Vitae

Bernard Debarbieux, male

March 2015

1. ACADEMIC TRAINING

Licence in history (Grenoble, 1982)

PhD (Grenoble, 1988) and Habilitation à diriger des recherches in geography (Grenoble, 1995) in geography.

Post-grade in Urban Planning (Grenoble, 1985)

2. ACADEMIC POSITIONS

- Since 2002 - Ordinary professor, School of Social and Economic Sciences University of Geneva.
 - ✓ Since 2014 – dean of the Geneva School of Social Sciences
 - ✓ since 2012 – deputy director of the Institute for Environmental Sciences
- Sept 2010 – March 2011 – Visiting professor at Vassar College, New York, USA
- 1998/2002- Professor, University Joseph-Fourier (UJF), Grenoble (France) et director of the research unit TEO (CNRS-UJF)
- 1995/1996 – Invited Professor, University of Montreal, Canada

3. RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

Main research fields

Regional planning and environmental management, especially for mountain regions

Territoriality, collective and social identities

Social and geographical Imaginaries

Recent research contracts (2010-15)

- 2010–2012: "Eco-Treg: Eco-regional Territoriality – Rescaling Environmental Governance", COST Programme (Brussels-Bern), Scientific director
- 2010–2012: European Geographical Specificities, ESPON Programme (Brussels), Member
- 2012-2013: Mountlennium - mountain regions and the millennium Development Goals, Swiss Network for International Studies (Geneva), Scientific director
- 2012-2014: ERMI – Mountain Regions institutions in Europe – a comparative analysis, FNRS (Bern), Scientific director

- 2012-2014: Carpathian Unite, research programme funded by the Swiss Contribution to the EU enlargement (for Poland), Swiss partner.
- 2013-2016: « TRIG2 - Trajectoires résidentielles et Identités Géographiques dans le périurbain en Suisse», SNF (Bern) division 1, Scientific director
- 2014-2016: EUgems – Governance of environment in macroregional strategies in Europe, SNF (Bern) division 1, Scientific director